Why study with CSP?

- Engaging interactive workshops developing your supervision, leading to an ILM certificate or diploma.
 - Modular approach enabling reflection, practice and consolidation as you build your knowledge and skills.
 - Reflective learning as a core methodology to develop and embed this core supervisory skill and develop your internal supervisor.
 - Group supervision sessions with our highly experienced coach supervisors to apply and develop your learning in practice whilst gaining an appreciation of being supervised in different styles and settings.
 - Peer supervision circle and personal practice that embeds your learning and enhances your impact.
- Tailored to your particular areas of interest to build on your current coaching strengths and align with your organisational context and needs/goals.
 - Individual and group tutoring with the CSP tutor team throughout your study to support you in gaining your ILM qualification.
 - Membership of the CSP Coaching & Supervision Network to provide continuing support and challenge beyond the programme.

- Lead coaching and coach supervision in organisations

What will you learn?

- The purpose and practices of effective coaching supervision
- Contracting for supervision
- Setting boundaries and maintaining ethical standards
- Key supervision models and their practical application
- Individual, peer and group supervision approaches
- Benefits of supervision to different stakeholders – organisation, coach and clients
- Evaluation of supervision and its impact on various stakeholders

How will you record your learning?

You will develop a practice-based portfolio including evidence of:

- Establishing effective supervision contracts
- Identifying goals and building rapport
- Effective coaching supervision (minimum 20 hours)
- Critical reflections on your impact and effectiveness as a supervisor
- The outcomes of being supervised
- An auditable record of your supervision practice
- An analysis of your own strengths and a development plan

Why choose the Coaching Supervision Partnership?

We are a learning organisation of qualified and practising coaches and coach supervisors committed to continuous professional development.

We bring experience of supervising internal and independent coaches working in diverse settings including healthcare, education, not-for-profit, SMEs, large corporate and blue-chip multinationals.

We have a strong track record as independent trainers and educators in Higher Education.
